Thanks, Bill.

I am able to talk at 12pm PT, 3pm ET.

In preparation for the call, I would like to know what EPA's oversight role is once grant money is distributed? If half of EPA's budgets is grants, I have a hard time understanding why this one grant cannot be accounted for. Also, I'd like to talk about what Region 10 approved in relation to the adds and what was done without Region 10's knowledge.

Looking forward,

-Andrew

Andrew...I spoke to you about the "Get Involved" button on the website. That's what we discussed. The Billboard ads are completely different and we didn't even discuss them during our conversation. If you'd like to discuss the nature of our discussion last week I'm happy to do so.

In the meantime, understand that there are several moving parts to this that we're still trying to understand and follow from where we sit so a little patience and grace would be much appreciated.

Again, I'm happy to discuss this in some depth - to the degree I have any depth -- tomorrow if you'd like.

Cindy,

This is very troubling. Especially after Bill told me the EPA worked with the Swinomish tribe to make sure that whatsupstream.com and all of the adds associated did not violate the lobbying laws. Can either of you speak to that? Either the statement is untrue or Bill misinformed me.

If the statement is all the EPA is able to provide I will have to wait for the IG report and work with the respective oversight Committees.

Regards,

-Andrew

Andrew,

I'm sorry that I can't provide all the information that you've requested, but here is our statement, which may be helpful to you:

"The tone and content of this outside campaign does not represent the views of EPA. EPA spends an enormous amount of time and resources on efforts to work with farmers, tribes and other stakeholders on collaborative efforts to improve water quality. The grant being used to fund the billboard was awarded to a consortium to be directed at endangered salmon recovery efforts. The grant also authorized a public education element. The consortium made a sub-award for a campaign which should not be using EPA funds. We are in the process of correcting that."

With my regards,

Cindy

Hey Cindy,

I wanted to loop back around and see if you had those breakdowns. Can you provide the documentation where you pulled the $18,957.55 number as well?

Best,

-Andrew

Hello Andrew,

The total cost of the ads that have been on the radio is $18,957.55. We are working to get the website development costs for you.

Andrew – A required disclaimer is missing from the billboard. As noted in the article, we contacted the NW Indian Fisheries Commission who is communicating with the Swinomish Tribe about the issue. I'd be very surprised if this weren't remedied very soon.

That's all I know, but feel free to call if you like: 206-553-1019.

Hey Bill,

I read the following article this weekend. Can you update me on what policies are out of compliance and what remedies are being taken? If possible, it would be great to talk today. It seems like this is a reversal of policy by your office since our last conversation.

Hello Andrew,

Thank you for taking your time to talk to Policy Advisor Bill Dunbar and me yesterday. This is a follow-up message to provide information that you requested.

Attached is the "Application for Federal Assistance" submitted by the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission, which was selected as the award recipient through a competitive process. This document provides more information about how the money is to be spent by NWIFC, including the work plan, the budget, and a signed "Certification Regarding Lobbying" on the tenth page. Under this award, NWIFC made the subaward to the Swinomish Indian Tribal Community.

Here is the text of the radio ad:

Support for KUOW comes from What's Upstream dot com, a coalition of Washington clean water advocates working to protect salmon rivers and streams by addressing agricultural pollution as a cause of pollution in salmon-bearing streams.

Believing that clean water in Puget Sound starts with clean water upstream. More at What's upstream dot com.

Our office will follow up again when we have more specific information about costs under the subaward.

With my regards,

Cindy
